On October 2 at 5am Mercury in Virgo stations direct before it ingresses into Libra on October 10 at 7:50pm. Mercury in Libra wants to hear both sides of the story, making friends through fairness and tactful gossip. A great time for networking and expressing yourself aesthetically. Mercury will oppose a retrograde Jupiter in Aries at 3:23am on October 12. Beware of big ideas, Jupiter opposing a retrograde Mercury might impede fruition.

The sun in Libra will meet with sweet Venus on October 22 at 5:17pm. Discerning Venus in Libra conjunct the Venusian sun wants you to shoot and score. You can find your other half all with perfect timing. Venus and the sun both ingress into sultry Scorpio at 3:51am and 6:35am respectively on October 23. Venus in Libra is fun and flirty. Venus in Scorpio wants to have and to hold, until death do you part or whatever. Towards what do you yearn?

Eclipse season begins with a Partial Solar Eclipse in Scorpio on October 25 at 6:48am. A Solar Eclipse harbors in transition and new beginnings. An Eclipse can feel fraught with anticipation. It brings our emotions to the surface and still waters run deep with a spiritual Scorpio Eclipse. Mars ruled Scorpio is possessive and rife with libidinal energy. A Scorpio's response to untreated emotional turmoil might involve physical destruction. If our fears are just repressed emotions then the best thing to do during an eclipse is to let it wash over you. Like a cold shower...or a warm bath. Handle this one well and be even more prepared when the Lunar Eclipse in Taurus arrives in November.

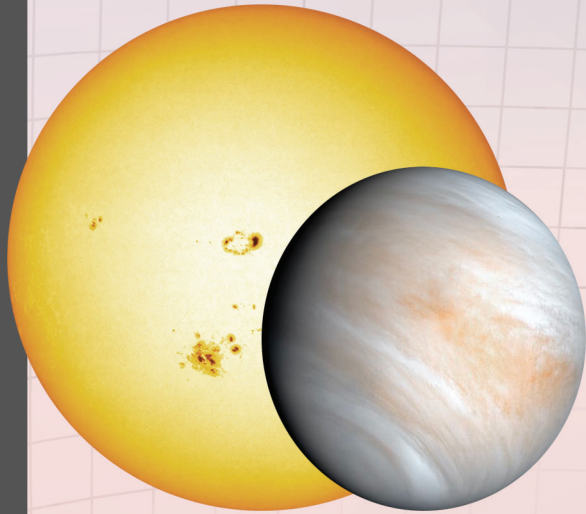

Jupiter retrogrades back into Pisces on October 28 at 1:09am harkening back to the themes of the first quarter of this year when Jupiter was last retrograde in Pisces. Mercury will enter Scorpio on October 29 at 3:22pm and you'll want to find the deeper meaning behind people's words. Mars in Gemini stations retrograde on October 30 at 9:25am and it will remain retrograde for the rest of the year. Lock down that Scorpio shorty because things may get flighty here on out. Venus in Scorpio will square Saturn in Aquarius on November 7 at 2:33am. Insecurities around love and beauty will feel intensified and prolonged. Reassurance and validation will relieve inevitable but temporary brooding. My, don't you look pretty.

Quarter Four

The Moon finds its place in opposition to the Scorpio Sun with a Total Lunar Eclipse in Taurus. This Eclipse wants you to assess your self-worth. The bull needs stability in things like personal values, resources and possessions. Have they been serving you well? Or were they put in place for somebody else? There must be some form of union or separation. Change is hard for fixed signs, don't be afraid. This fated event will occur at 16° Taurus on November 8 at 6:02am.

Venus enters Sagittarius on November 16 at 1:08am. Mercury follows Venus into the sign of the archer on November 17 at 3:41am. Mercury and Venus will meet on November 11 at 5:54pm. The planet of communication meeting the planet of love in adventurous Sagittarius is a fabulous time to express how much you love someone. Send them a message through skywriting, you're the pilot. The Full Moon in Sagittarius on November 23 occurs at 5:57pm securing that bond made by Mercury and Venus.

Venus in Sagittarius comes into an opposition with a retrograde Mars in Gemini just past midnight on December 1. Aspects like oppositions and squares task us with a challenge. Venus and Mars are naturally opposed but like in all successful relationships we must find balance. We can't control everything but retrogrades give us a chance to revisit certain situations. Try not to get swept away with words when Mercury squares retrograde Neptune in Pisces at 8:08pm the same day. Quickly thereafter Neptune stations retrograde in Pisces on December 3 at 7:15pm. Neptune is finally at comfort to dream as it escapes directly into its home sign of Pisces. Things get misty when Neptune in Pisces squares Venus in Sagittarius on December 4 at 2:12am. If you get too high the danger of falling becomes graver. After stationing direct last month Jupiter will finally find its way back into Aries. Assertive confidence, optimism and energy. Just in time for Christmas.
