

STREET STYLE

SCENE IN DETROIT

THE DEVIL'S IN THE DETAILS: SPOOKY SEASON
 LEIGH MILLER | OCTOBER, 2023

Detroit, is well-known for its own October traditions of Devil's Night and ghostly, goblin, and witchy tales of The Nain Rouge, Le Loup Garou, and Witch of Delray. In 2023, Detroit's modern-day dwellers are celebrating the most spooktacular time of year in style, fashionably flaunting their haute-est Halloween haunts! In and out of costumes, Detroiters have been bringing colorful looks out of closet hibernation, with accessories abound. An especially stand-out "accessory" has been bright hair. As for outfits, cozy sweater-weather ensembles with chunky knits, textures, and patterns are plentiful, along with denim and fluffy, firside-ready coats. City goers, like the leaves, have fallen for rust oranges, burnt umbers, and golds this month. However, a "major vein" in color combos has been folks "camping" it up in reds and blacks. Something of an eye candy treat has been seeing people out and about in "unseasonably" super-saturated outfits and accessories—bright pinks, reds, blues, and rainbow patterns. Detroiters are bringing the treats and getting tricked out this Halloween season with the spooky, stylish, and the saturation. Happy Hauntings... --LM

