

STREET STYLE SCENE IN DETROIT

FALL YEAH! SEPTEMBER STYLE SPECIAL
LEIGH MILLER | SEPTEMBER, 2023

It's that time of year—there's a change in the air, the leaves, and the LOOKS. As NYFW takes place out East, in the Midwest, and especially Detroit, a temperate September seems to bring out the best in people, events, and style. From Dally in The Alley to Detroit Month of Design, everywhere there are things to do and people to see. Similar to the changing leaves, people have been out and about in Technicolor and textures. Trending? '90s grunge and goth vibes alongside business prep-punk, whale tale/crop top combos, and below-the-brief-line lo-rise pants); '70s bell bottoms, hues, and hair; '60s boots with

Peter-Max-esque patterns and color schemes; Barbie!core pinks (and some fab looks that are more than "Kenough," cowboy boots included). Also, sheer shirts, "bi-pirate" blouses, denim, statement jackets, cuffed pants multi-layers paired with statement earrings and bold hair. Personally, seeing common threads of orange, plaid, and so many cozy textures have me ready to pull out the retro Halloween decorations, put on Over The Garden Wall, and head out to a pumpkin patch stat. --LM
