SCENE IN DETROIT

BLACK, WHITE, & POLYCHROME ALL OVER

Out in the streets, Detroit is salvage-ing the last of summer sun in style. Similar to the weather we've been having this past season with dark, stormy skies contrasted by sky-illuminating lightning, end-of-August styles are bringing the heat in high-contrast black-and-white (featuring pops of color, mostly in patterns—can we call florals for pre-fall ground-breaking?). The “It” accessories seem to be white sneakers, black chunky shoes, micro over-the-shoulder bags with statement straps, pull-strings, the-gos-and-y2k-called parachute-style pants, and...surprisingly...chonky headphones? You heard--read--that right; pairing your look with your music—? At least no one's losing an earbud down a steam vent this September. In summary, (mostly) monochromatic with music is what Detroit's wearing to welcome in the fall for 2023. -LM
