MIRROR OF THE SKY

Cyrah Dardas is a Queer, eco-feminist artist and care worker living in Detroit /Waawiyaata-nong, Anishinaabe territory. Dardas uses her art practice as a tool in remembering the lost relationships between humans and non-human beings because of the extractive nature of capitalism by regulating and healing our collective body to restore interdependency. Cyrah's work is informed by their experiences in childcare, gardening, as a member of an artist cooperative, Portal For and through their work with natural fibers, earth pigments, and botanical inks. Their practice is deeply rooted in ritualized art making, using the process as well as the work itself as a tool for grief composition, and collective healing.
